

Humanitarian aspect:

According to the Head of the President's Office, Andriy Yermak, another large-scale exchange of prisoners took place today. One hundred eight women, including 37 evacuees from Azovstal, 11 officers, 85 privates, and sergeants, were freed from captivity. Victoria Obidina, a doctor who was evacuated from Azovstal, was separated from her 4 y.o. daughter by the Russian military at the time of the evacuation. The mother was left at the "filtration" camp, and the daughter was taken to Zaporizhzhia, from where relatives later picked her up.

Ukraine's capital Kyiv was attacked by four kamikaze drones this morning immediately after the end of the curfew. One of the drones hit a residential building in the city center not far from the central train station. At least four people were killed, including a young couple - husband and wife, both 34. The young woman was 6 months pregnant, Kyiv city mayor Vitaliy Klychko said. 19 people were rescued from under the rubble. The ruined building had architectural value. The drones most likely targeted the heat production plant located near the train station.

In Donetsk Oblast, the Russian forces shelled Slovyansk at night, hitting a ceramics plant. No one was hurt. The invaders also fired artillery along the entire front line. Over the past day, 4 people were killed and 10 injured in the Oblast.

Joint Command South stated that 3 Shahed-136 kamikaze drones hit industrial infrastructure facilities and a pharmaceutical warehouse in Mykolaiv. Later, Dmytro Pletenchuk, the press officer of Mykolayiv Oblast Military Administration (OMA), said that the drones hit a sunflower oil container owned by one of the leading exporters of sunflower oil in Ukraine. The oil spilled into the streets of the city. 17% of the global oil export passed through this terminal in the city of Mykolaiv.

According to the Ukrainian government-owned electric energy provider "Ukrenergo", energy infrastructure facilities in Ukraine's central and northern regions were damaged due to the Russian terrorist attacks. «Ukrenergo repair crews are working on eliminating the consequences. The situation in the power system is under control». The company emphasized that the Ukrenergo dispatcher center is considering introducing an emergency shutdown schedule.

Shortly after 5 a.m., the Russian forces launched a missile attack on critical infrastructure facilities in the Romny district of Sumy Oblast, Dmytro Zhivvytskyi, the head of the Sumy OMA said. At least three people died, and nine were wounded. According to Zhyvytskyi, 1,625 customers are disconnected from the electricity supply in Sumy Oblast.

Although the Ukrainian military destroyed three Russian cruise missiles over Dnipropetrovsk Oblast, one still hit an energy infrastructure facility this night. There was an intense fire, the head of Dnipropetrovsk OMA, Valentyn Reznichenko, said. As a result, scheduled blackouts started in the city of Dnipropetrovsk and the Oblast to balance the grid, CEO of Yasno energy provider

Serhiy Kovalenko said. The shelling also cut off the Zaporizhzhia NPP's electricity supply, again turning on its autonomous power generation.

In Kharkiv, on the morning of October 17, the metro and ground electric transport were temporarily stopped, and power outages occurred in different districts of the city of Kharkiv and Kharkiv Oblast, Suspilne public TV reported.

An enemy missile hit a critical infrastructure facility in Vinnytsya Oblast in the west of Ukraine, Serhiy Borzov, head of Vinnytsia OMA, said. No victims were reported.

In Ukraine, 6,570 compact living spaces for IDPs have been arranged, the press service of the Ministry of Reintegration said. The Ministry explained that local and regional authorities are in charge of helping displaced persons but in close cooperation with the central government. Modular cities for the people who were forced to move were deployed in five regions; 25 of them were built by the Polish government.

Law enforcement officers have exhumed 187 bodies at the mass burial site in the liberated city of Lyman, Donetsk Oblast. Among them are 35 military personnel and 152 civilians. The police press officer emphasized that about 40 graves remain unexplored because access to them is difficult.

The Russian forces are using a new tactic of nuclear blackmail, targeting energy infrastructure that connects nuclear power plants to the power grid, National energy company Enerhoatom said in a statement.

Occupied territories:

A total of about 3 thousand residents of occupied Melitopol, Zaporizhzhia Oblast, have been mobilized into "some pseudo-volunteer battalions" by force, the legally elected Ukrainian mayor of the city Ivan Fedorov said. The occupying authorities can simply pick up people in the middle of the street and take them to the military commissariat or the commandant's office. Although they are released afterwards, they are immediately put on the record. There were also cases when they were immediately taken into the army.

One of the reasons there are long lines to cross the Kerch Strait is that the Russian authorities use the ferries to transport military equipment, Deputy Permanent Presidential Representative [of Ukraine] in the Autonomous Republic of Crimea, Denys Chystikov, said. Once a military equipment shipment arrives, all civilian cars are made to wait in line, which makes the drivers very angry. Residents of Crimea were offered to use the land route through the recently occupied Ukrainian territories; however, they are afraid because the line of contact is close, and nobody could guarantee their security. To popularize this route, the occupation authorities publicly announced that "70 trucks in an organized group set off from the Kerch port towards the newly occupied territories." It's not clear, though, how safe the passage will be if no security is provided to travelers.

A team of 11 staff members of the International Committee of the Red Cross is ready to visit the POWs in Olenivka, Donetsk Oblast. However, it does not have the minimum security guarantees on the ground and the "permission of the local authorities" [so-called DPR] to visit, ICRS said in a statement. In response to accusations from Ukrainian government officials of ICRS not fulfilling its obligations, ICRS replied that accusing the Committee because "it was denied full and immediate access" will not help either the prisoners of war or their families, and the only ones who can change the situation are the relevant states and the "authorities" in charge of the detention.

Operational situation

(please note that this part of the report is mainly on the previous day's (October 16) developments)

It is the 236th day of the strategic air-ground offensive operation of the Russian Armed Forces against Ukraine (in the official terminology of the Russian Federation – "operation to defend Donbas"). The enemy tries to maintain control over the temporarily captured territories. It concentrates its efforts on disrupting the counteroffensive actions of the Ukrainian troops, and continues the offensive in the Bakhmut and Avdiivka directions.

The Russian military shells the positions of the Ukrainian troops along the entire contact line, fortifies defensive positions and frontiers in certain directions, and conducts aerial reconnaissance. In violation of the norms of international humanitarian law, the laws and customs of war, it strikes Ukraine's critical infrastructure and residential quarters.

Over the past day, the Russian forces have launched 2 missile and 26 air strikes and fired over 70 MLRS rounds.

Areas of more than twenty towns and villages, including Bilopillia in Sumy Oblast, Sloviansk, Pavlivka and Novosilka in Donetsk Oblast, Marhanets in Dnipropetrovsk Oblast, Pravdyne and Bilohirka in Kherson Oblast were hit by the Russian forces. In the Kharkiv Oblast, the Russian military shelled the villages of Veterynarne, Vysoka Yaruga, Vovchansk, Vovchanski Khutory, Hatyshche, Dvorichne, Zelene, Kozacha Lopan, Krasne and Ohirtseve with mortars, barrel and jet artillery. The Russian forces attacked Mykolaiv with fifteen kamikaze drones; eleven of them were shot down by Ukrainian defenders. The threat of missile and airstrikes and the use of "Shahed-136" attack UAVs from the territory of the Republic of Belarus persists.

The Russian forces try to replenish their manpower losses and mobilize a large number of men in the temporarily occupied territories. Thus, according to the available information, in Stanytsia Luhanska, Luhansk Oblast, employees of municipal services enterprises were forcibly registered for military service under Russian legislation and underwent a so-called medical examination. According to its results, all were found capable of military service.

The aviation of the Ukrainian Defense Forces made over 30 strikes over the past day. Hits on 25 enemy weapons and military equipment concentration areas and on 6 anti-aircraft missile systems are confirmed. Ukrainian air defense units shot down 15 Russian UAVs.

Over the past day, Ukraine's missile forces and artillery hit 2 enemy command and control posts, 1 anti-aircraft battery position, and 1 ammunition depot.

Russia has acquired an undisclosed number of Iranian Arash-2 drones, which are said to be faster and more destructive than the Shahed-136.

The morale and psychological state of the personnel of the invasion forces remain low. On October 15, citizens of one of the CIS countries (presumably from Tajikistan), who sought to obtain Russian citizenship through participation in the war against Ukraine, shot a group of mobilized citizens of the Russian Federation at a training ground in the Russian Belgorod Oblast, killing at least 11 people and wounding another 15.

Due to the repair of the Kerch Strait Bridge, there is a massive accumulation of cargo waiting to cross the Kerch Strait. ### Ukraine, general news

Mykhailo Podolyak, an adviser to the head of the President's Office, calls for Russia to be expelled from the international Group of Twenty: "He who gives orders to attack critical infrastructure in order to freeze civilians, and organizes a total mobilization to cover the front with corpses, categorically cannot sit at the same table with the leaders of the G20." Podolyak believes that world leaders should put an end to ru-hypocrisy.

In the eighth month of the full-scale war, 40% of Ukrainians are in a tense or very tense state. At the same time, citizens demonstrate a good level of resilience; on a scale of 1 to 5, they rate it at 3.9, according to the survey Rating group pollster conducted on October 8-9. A study of Ukrainians' emotional states from March to October 2022 showed little change. The peak of tension was observed at the beginning of April 2022 (3.5). In June, there was a gradual decrease in the level of stress (3.3). In October, the indicators remained at the same level (3.3). Currently, 24% of Ukrainians rate their state as calm or very calm. The sociological group emphasizes that the tension rate of 40% is relatively low for wartime.

International diplomatic aspect

NATO speaks the only language Russia understands. Steadfast Noon, the annual nuclear deterrence exercise, kicked off on Monday. The drill involves 14 nations with more than 60 aircraft, including the fifth-generation planes the Russian Airspace Forces don't possess. The event sends a much more convincing message to Russia not to escalate than numerous statements of heads of state that they don't want world war III to happen.

The European Council has agreed to set up a Military Assistance Mission in support of Ukraine (EUMAM Ukraine). The mission will contribute to enhancing the UAF's military capabilities in defending the country. The EUMAM will provide individual, collective and specialized training to the UAF, including their Territorial Defence Forces. The two-year-long mission will be chaired by Vice Admiral Hervé Bléjean, the Director of the Military Planning and Conduct Capability (MPCC) within the EEAS.

The European Council has also adopted the additional €500 million tranche under the European Peace Facility to further enhance the UAF's defense capabilities. It brings the total EU contribution under the EPF for Ukraine to €3.1 billion.

"Providing weapons to wage a war of aggression in Ukraine and kill Ukrainian citizens makes Iran complicit in the crime of aggression, war crimes, and terrorist acts of Russia against Ukraine," stated the Ukrainian Foreign Ministry. "For anybody in the world who is either selling material to Iran that could be used for [unmanned aerial vehicles] or ballistic missiles, or who is involved in flights between Iran and Russia: Do your due diligence because we are absolutely going to sanction anybody who's helping Iranians help Russians kill Ukrainians," the US official announced plans to impose economic sanctions and possibly some export controls over the Iranian support for the Russian war effort. The EU imposed sanctions against Tehran over the human rights crackdown and voiced readiness to punish it for its involvement in Russia's war in Ukraine. "What we can see now: Iranian drones are used apparently to attack in the middle of Kyiv, this is an atrocity," Denmark's Foreign Minister said.

Russia, relevant news

As of August 2022, 41% of the 5,700 cinemas in Russia were closed, Aleksey Voronkov, head of the Association of Cinema Owners (AVK), told the Russian government-owned news agency TASS. Due to the departure of the largest international film companies from the Russian market, more than 150 cinemas were closed in the country - 7% of the total number of more than 2,100 venues. And in some large 12-screen cinemas in Russia, only half of the halls are working due to the lack of content, according to Voronkov.

The Su-34 military plane crashed into a residential building in the Russian city of Yeisk, Krasnodar Krai. The fall of the aircraft caused a large-scale fire in a high-rise building. Russian mass media report that the disaster was caused by igniting one of the plane's engines during takeoff.
